

Catherine Anne McIntyre

EDUCATION: My formal education was cut short by a lack of funds, but my life-long education began as a US Army dependent of my father with whom I lived in Asia, and later my military husband in 1974 as we moved to Europe and across the US. Teaching ESL has been a lifelong hobby turned profession. I trained with Laubauch Literacy Missions to foreign born military wives in 1977 and have been volunteering as a teacher ever since. I completed my formal education while my husband was stationed in Washington DC, and began my career in Virginia.
